The psychoanalytic encounter Conflict and change will reflect about global, relational and individual aspects of theoretical and clinical perspectives related to the psychoanalytic process.
This year the Forum of The International Federation of Psychoanalytic Societies (IFPS) will be hosted by:

AP – Associação Portuguesa de Psicanálise e Psicoterapia Psicanalítica, in Lisbon. The importance of mental health for a healthier and more productive society is known all over the world (World Health Organization) and this initiative has the merit of being recognized for its contribution to this cause through the High Sponsorship of the Presidency of the Republic of Portugal.

Also for the role that psychoanalysis can play in the development of community sustainability this XXI Forum is integrated in the celebration events of LISBON EUROPEAN GREEN CAPITAL for 2020.

What better place to inspire us than Lisbon European Green Capital Lisbon for 2020, to expand the comprehensiveness of the different dimensions of the psychoanalytic encounter and the needs created by the new formats of relations and communications, always in constant transformation in nowadays? How mysterious and deep can be the Psychoanalytic Encounter?

“Between sleep and dream, Between me and what in me That’s what I suppose An endless river flows. It passed through other banks, Several beyond, On those various trips That the whole river has.

Got where I live today The house I am today. Pass, if I meditate; If awake, it has passed. And who I feel and dies In what connects me Sleep where the river flows This endless river.”

With these words of the great Portuguese poet Fernando Pessoa, we invite everyone to come forward and present their views in Lisbon, February 5-8, 2020.

Cristina Nunes Chair of XXI IFPS FORUM 2020
THE PSYCHOANalytic ENCOUNTER: CONFLICT AND CHANGE will reflect about global, relational and individual aspects of theoretical and clinical perspectives related to the psychoanalytic process.

Consider this: Two people meet twice a week at a certain hour on a certain day in a certain place - to talk. One of them is called the Analysand and will lie on a couch. The other, whom we'll call the Analyst, sits a little behind.

What is taking place in this mysterious meeting that we call the psychoanalytical encounter?

We'd like to know your thoughts about the Psychoanalytical Encounter, which has been viewed from very different perspectives since Freud created this discipline.

- What is the role of the Analyst and what can he do to facilitate the mental growth of his patient?
- What is the importance of the setting? What is the importance of a timely interpretation?
- What about empathy and projective identifications? What about resistances and countertransference?

As for the patient, what kind of role can he have under those special circumstances he finds himself in, struggling to be, as the poet put it, the "captain of his soul"?

And the outer reality, how does it play in this sui generis encounter of two humans, body and mind, citizens living in community? And how does this meeting, besides the qualitative change of the participants, also transform this community and the collective experience, recreating the sustainability of Polis?

We count on everyone to broaden our horizons and expand our knowledge in recreating a better society.

Welcome to Lisbon and at the XXI International Forum of Psychoanalysis!

TASTING FADO

Offers the better what the city has to offer: a visit to the Tivoli Theater, a national monument with a brief explanation of Fado and its history, recreates a traditional Fado house, where you can enjoy Fado, accompanied by a Port wine and the traditional Pastel de Nata (custard pastry).
